

HUMAN LIFE WITH AND WITHOUT GOD

God inspired the psalmist to give a clear illustration of our physical lives on earth. It is like grass and flowers on the field. They are so fragile and temporary. That is exactly our lives on earth. We do not have much control over our lives. Accidents can happen anytime. We might contract some disease without knowing. No one can be sure about the day they will die.

Those who have accepted Jesus as their savior are different. They have eternal life that is everlasting. God's everlasting love is with them as stated in this verse as well as in many places in the Bible. Moreover, God's righteousness is with them. God is unshakeable and everlasting in comparison to humans, who are fragile and transient.

Lastly, the covenant is a commitment shared between God and His people. It involves both divine promises and human responsibility. God's children need to obey God. Study the Bible to know His thoughts and commands. Then, follow His teachings and wills. Offer ourselves back to Him as stated in Romans 12:1 and Malachi 3:10.

Psalm 103:15-18 The life of mortals is like grass, they flourish like a flower of the field; the wind blows over it and it is gone, and its place remembers it no more. But from everlasting to everlasting the Lord's love is with those who fear him, and his righteousness with their children's children—with those who keep his covenant and remember to obey his precepts.
